N. B. EACH AGENCY HAS DISCRETION TO DEFINE THEIR UNIQUE 9XX NOAC'S

Codes 900-999 may be used by agencies to document personnel matters that are of interest to the agency and for which the Office of Personnel Management does not require a Standard Form 50, for example, a change in the employee's position number when no other change occurs, or a change in the appropriation from which the employee is paid. In general, a Standard Form 50 documenting a 900 series action may not be filed on the right side of the Official Personnel Folder (OPF). The exception is when an agency uses the Standard Form 50 instead of an agency form to document something that is approved for long-term Official Personnel Folder retention. An example is completion of the supervisory or managerial probationary period. Actions in the 900 series are not reported in Central Personnel Data File dynamics submissions.
