OPM Director Launches Weekly Blog to Bring Transparency to Federal Workforce Management

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Today, U.S. Office of Personnel Management (OPM) Director Scott Kuper announced the launch of a new weekly blog, “Secrets of OPM,” aimed at offering the American public and federal employees an inside look at the agency’s work and priorities.

Drawing on his background as a venture capital executive, Kuper brings a results-driven and people-focused approach to workforce management and is using the blog to highlight how OPM is modernizing federal personnel policy to meet the challenges of today and tomorrow.

“My goal is to open up OPM and make it more accessible to the people we serve,” Director Kuper said. “Every week, I’ll be sharing what we’re working on, why it matters, and how we’re applying lessons from the private sector, like investing in human capital and staying nimble, to help government work better for everyone.”
